FOREWORD BY ROTHMANS OF PALL MALL

The two places which provided the major talking-points for soccer enthusiasts in this country last season were Nottingham and America, and there is no reason to doubt that they will be to the forefront again in the year ahead.

Money and glamour are two reasons why America has steadily become more attractive to British footballers. Most of them travel for the summer only, but for an increasing number the transition is permanent.

While America was edging closer to the position it seeks – to be one of the world's major soccer powers – Nottingham Forest was emerging as the team of the season in England. In their first season back in Division 1, Forest not only won the Football League Championship, but also the Football League Cup.

Scottish soccer had the honour and glory of qualifying to be Britain's sole representative in the World Cup Finals, while Wrexham and Swansea took some of the season's honours to Wales. Obvious success may not have come Northern Ireland's way, but just in ensuring that soccer survives the current pressures of life in Northern Ireland is in itself an achievement.

All these achievements, and many more, are documented in the pages of this, the ninth edition of the Rothmans Football Yearbook. Once again we praise the many people whose hard work has produced this definitive reference work of facts and figures of British soccer.

We said last year how pleased we were that the football Press consider Rothmans does for soccer what Wisden does for cricket. We also take pride in the fact that it is commonplace these days to walk into a soccer manager's office and see a well-thumbed Rothmans Football Yearbook on his desk.

The Yearbook is popular at all levels, not only among the professionals within the game, but also among supporters on the terraces and among armchair viewers. Long may it stay that way !

Of all the dramatic promotion and relegation issues decided last season, many in the final hectic days and by the narrowest of margins, perhaps the most profound in the long term was that of Charlton and their salvation from dropping into Division Three. Charlton earned a goalless draw in the last week of the season which kept them up by just one point – but the vital factor was that they did so without two key players, Mike Flanagan and Colin Powell.

They weren't absent, injured. They were absent on hire to the American Soccer club, Boston Tea Men, and between them these players missed a dozen games for Charlton. That was enough to put the London club in relegation peril, to enrage other Second Division teams whose fortunes were also affected . . . and to place into doubt the whole concept of cross-Atlantic loans.

Britons invented football more than a century ago, and have ever since been its most successful exporters. More topically, Britons were in the forefront of the first, largely unsuccessful, attempt to 'sell' soccer in the U.S.A. in the Sixties: but undiscouraged, Englishman Clive Toye and Welshman Phil Woosnam planned the second great assault on America which has proved so dramatically well-timed in the Seventies.

It will be a hideous irony, therefore, if it is Britain that suffers most through the success of the game in the United States. But suffering seems certain unless the trans-atlantic player traffic – and particularly the 'loans' – are brought under rigorous control.

Once the Americans, poor and unknowledgeable, were prepared to accept our players who were past their prime. Now they have the money to pay for the best, and steadily less patience when asked to wait for them to become available. There is evidence of this aplenty: and it is mounting month by month. We are losing players we ought to be clinging to: George Best, finally, from Fulham after a wrangle, then Peter Osgood from Southampton, and then Dennis Tueart from Manchester City.

But the most significant example of all, perhaps, was the deal done by Birmingham with Detroit over the gifted Trevor Francis. Birmingham were in a quandary: Francis, worth £700,000 on world transfer markets, wanted to cash in on his potential, and the Detroit offer of a summer season in the states for a £50,000 fee seemed ideal: Detroit got their man, Francis got his money, Birmingham retained his contract for its remaining two years. But the sting was in the tail.

If Detroit reached the play-off of their League Cup season they would hold onto Francis until perhaps two weeks after the English League had re-commenced. This seems the thin end of an enormous wedge – once the precedent of Americans having first choice has been accepted it is bound to be followed. How long before we are having to ask the U.S.A. for the 'loan' of our players?

Derby's Tommy Docherty sounded the warning when refusing to do a similar deal involving Charlie George. Nottingham Forest skipper John McGovern forecast that one day British players would be 'Americans first' . . . using our winter as their close season coming back to play here only if they needed the money or felt homesick.

The two factors that make this no impossible nightmare are, first, that most of the American clubs are run like business enterprises for profit and are not the least concerned with international sporting customs and conventions (look what they've done to the rules!): and, secondly, 16 of the 24 NASL clubs have British coaches – who naturally go looking for talent in the fields they know best.

No one can be against progress. No one can be other than delighted that soccer has a vast new public and enormous new resources pouring into it from the vital, snowballing American scene. But snowballs can provoke avalanches . . . Britain should go, with FIFA support, to thrash out a compromise with the U.S.A. before our game is left denuded by their wealth.

INTRODUCTION

Any year in which the World Cup finals are held is a special one for the game and in this respect this year's edition of Rothmans Football Yearbook has a strong emphasis on the events leading up to and the actual conclusion of them in Argentina. In addition to the usual features which give the line-ups of the matches played in the final tournament together with the goalscorers, there are a number of other interesting facts and figures reproduced on this and other World Cups.

Another innovation this year is the start of a season by season statistical review of English League and Cup football since the two major domestic competitions began. Also some of the more interesting milestones in the game's history have been included along with England's international results for the particular season in question. Part One of this historical survey is included in this issue and takes you up to the 1938-39 season.

Among the more familiar features are line-ups, goalscorers and attendances of matches played in the Football League and Scottish League as well as the League Cup, FA Cup, Scottish League Cup and Scottish Cup. There are separate sections for followers of Welsh and Irish football and our European Nations section provides an A to Z of the facts on the Continent. Also for new readers we would like to point out thta an asterisk* against a player's name on the Football League club pages means that he was given a free transfer at the end of 1977-78.

Again we would like to thank the various organisations who have helped to make this a complete book and we are especially grateful to Mrs Sandra Whiteside of the Football League, Mr Mike McNamara of the Football Association and Mr Tom Maule of the Scottish League all of whom were extremely helpful.

FIFA World Cup 1978

by Leslie Vernon

World Cup Final tournaments are rightly considered milestones in the history of Association Football. Through the advent of television, the entire population of the globe is brought within not only viewing, but practically shouting distance of the event, and this incredible mass audience judges, analyses, discusses every kick, every goal, every refereeing decision. Playing in front of such an immense 'crowd' puts a great deal of responsibility on the players, their mentors (the managers and coaches), on the administrators, in fact on everyone connected with the finals. Big-time football is part of the showbiz scene, it thrives on publicity, it needs the financial and emotional support of the fans, therefore the game's 'image' must be an attractive one. Despite the usual precautionary noises made by the powers that be before a ball was kicked in earnest, I regret to say that the 1978 finals did not present football in the best possible light. Enthusiastic crowds are part and parcel of the game, indeed without their 'background' presence, a match would be reduced to an academic exercise. But in Argentina, the nationalistic fervour of the home supporters often degenerated into an unpleasantly chauvinistic demonstration, proving once again the sad triusm that sport and politics are indivisible. Living under a military dictatorship, struggling against a rocketing inflation rate, the people – although likeable and friendly – mistakenly began to look upon their football team as the symbols of their nationhood. Their victories, however dubiously achieved, were regarded as proof of superiority in other fields totally unconnected with football. After the final game, when Passarella, captain of Argentina, lifted the FIFA World Cup sky high, one could almost sense the relief, as though a disaster was averted. One commentator, for instance, asserted that if Rensenbrink's shot which hit the post minutes before the end of normal time had gone in, and Holland had won, there would have been a revolution in Argentina! The fact that such an outrageous assessment cannot be laughed out of court, demonstrates how serious, not to say debased, the situation was. Football, the glory game, has never been intended to serve any political philosophy and the concept of the World Cup – as originated by that honourable French gentleman, Jules Rimet – has certainly never included the fostering of chauvinism. But of course, taking football 'too seriously' has always been a characteristic of South American life, and managers like Cesar Luis Menotti of Argentina, and Claudio Coutinho of Brazil, constantly walk the tightrope which separates a national hero from a bungling incompetent. Poor old Roca of Mexico, didn't even dare to return home after his managerial stint with his country's unsuccessful squad.

But we are mainly concerned with the football itself, and let me say at once that although perhaps the general standard wasn't as high as in some previous competitions, the 1978 finals were still a fascinating, constantly entertaining tournament. The preceding qualifying competition provided the talking point as to whether the allocation of places was based on a fair system or otherwise. While we mourned the failure of England to make the last 16, our sorrow wasn't eased by the knowledge that such footballing nonentities as Iran, Tunisia and Mexico were triumphant qualifiers from other geographically selected groups. One side of the coin of this particular argument propagates the obvious, namely that the 16 strongest countries should contest the World Cup Finals. The opposing side says that the preliminary competition is also part of the Cup, and that participation in the game's premier tournament's Finals act as a great boost in such underdeveloped continents as Africa and Asia. It would be futile to pursue this question, because in any case, Joao Havelange, in his FIFA presidential election address, promised a bigger share of the cake to the lesser fry, and Tunisia's surprisingly mature football in Argentina underlined the progress made by countries hitherto regarded as no-hopers.

Despite fears to the contrary, the 'Mundial '78', as the Argentinians called 'their' World Cup (in more senses than one), kicked off on time on pitches which if not good, were tolerable, with the media just about adequately catered for, bar television, which was, as always, exemplary. No tournament or even single event can live up to the ballyhoo which surrounded the World Cup; consequently, with hindsight, one can now say that the abysmal opening game between the holders, West Germany and Poland was a blessing in disguise.

After that 0–0 debacle (the fourth consecutive opener without one single goal!), everything else had to be an improvement, and when on the following day after only 31 seconds play, Lacombe scored for France, we were all out of our seats screaming with delight. Sharing the points was obviously a 'good idea' for both the Germans and the Poles, as they both confidently expected to collect maximum spoils from Group II minnows, Tunisia and Mexico. Poland were perhaps marginally the better side, both Deyna and Lato missing chances and Sepp Maier making one or two characteristically classy saves. A day later, after Mexico took the lead, Tunisia played some excellent football straight out of some obscure African coaching manual, and scored three clever goals to win convincingly 3–1! Stunned by this unexpected setback, the Mexicans were unable to resist the rampant Germans, and conceded six goals without once being able to pierce the tough Teutonic defence. One unfortunate error allowed Lato to score for Poland against Tunisia, and afterwards, Tomaszewski's goal was kept intact miraculously as much by skill as by luck – 1–0! On the last playing day of this Group II, the Poles easily accounted for Mexico, but West Germany's match against Tunisia was a different cup of tequilla. Here were the World Champions facing the much scorned 'parvenues' of the competition, and they were forced to fight for survival. Territorially, perhaps, Helmut Schoen's team could claim superiority, but if any one of the dozen dangerous Tunisian attacks had resulted in a goal, the West Germans would have been out of the competition, As it happened, another clean sheet for Sepp in yet another goalless draw, meant second place in the Group, behind the equally unconvincing Poles.

Argentina were the seeded country in Group I and, surprisingly, Italy asked to be put in the same section, because of the ready-made support waiting for them in Buenos Aires, where there is a large colony of Italian immigrants. The unfortunate French and Hungarians, drawn into the same Group, made it undoubtedly the strongest foursome of the competition, and the football provided by these countries did not disappoint the sternest critics. Didier Six's centre found Lacombe, and the French striker scored with a brilliant header. But Italy came back strongly – Rossi equalized, and substitute Zaccarelli scored an excellent goal following an intricate move. On the same day, Hungary took the lead against Argentina through Csapo, but once again this early lead was wiped out, this time by Luque, capitalizing on a goalkeeping error, and late in the game, Bertoni got the winner for the jubilant hosts. This was a highly explosive affair, in which two young Hungarians, Torocsik and Nyilasi, lost both their patience and tempers, and were sent off by the Portuguese referee, Garrido. Sad to say that in a way, the refereeing in this match established a pattern which consistently assisted the home country to achieve her objectives. An accidental handling offence by Tresor, the brilliant centre-back of France, was astonishingly punished by a penalty, when Michel Hidalgo's team faced Argentina in their second match. And although Platini equalised Passarella's spot-kick, Luque got the winner with a marvellous shot. Italy beat depleted Hungary with ease, and in the match which decided the top-placings, they also defeated Argentina. France's win over the Magyars further emphasized this country's progress, and they were regarded as the most unlucky non-qualifiers for the last eight.

While goals were plentiful in Group I, they were at a premium in Group III, where Brazil were expected to walk all over the opposition. But their uninspiring drawn game against Sweden gave an early warning that this was not a vintage year for the three times World Champions, and eventually, Austria finished ahead of the pack. Brazil, without the discarded Rivelino and Zico relegated to substitute, scraped in at second place, while Spain and Sweden were deprived of a spot in Round II.

Naturally, we paid special interest to Group IV, where Scotland represented not only British football, but in many ways, the English League as well. Holland duly beat Iran 3–0 in their first match with a Rensenbrink hat-trick which included two penalties. Scotland were also awarded a spot-kick against Peru, but the acrobatic Quiroga saved Masson's tame effort. Cubillas scored with two long-range shots, and the South Americans won 3–1! To speak of a 'shock result' would be an understatement, because this scoreline was regarded as a 'great tragedy' for Scottish football. In its wake, Ally MacLeod's credibility as an international manager was questioned, and the behaviour of the Scottish squad while on tour was criticised. As a further blow, Willie Johnston was found guilty of taking an illegal stimulant, and was consequently jettisoned by the Scottish FA, and banned for a year by FIFA. His expulsion from the camp plus the subsequent Press revelations were other contributory factors which spread gloom and despondency in the Scottish camp, and their astonishingly inept performance against Iran (1–1) made them look even more foolish when one remembered the pre-World Cup bragging and their over-confident statements. When all was lost, Scotland came good and beat Holland – indeed at one stage, even the mini-miracle of a victory by three clear goals, which would have meant qualification, seemed possible. But a Johnny Rep thunderbolt ended this forlorn hope, and the 3–2 win was less than enough. Incidentally, these long-distance goals became the feature of the World Cup, and every time there was a free-kick awarded within 25 to 30 yards of goal, a sense of anticipation was evident on and off the pitch. Peru were eventually the surprise winners of this Group, and all four 'seeded' countries finished second – a series of results which helped to form a second stage Group 'A', which consisted of four strong European countries and a Group 'B' dominated by the South Americans, with 'cuckoos' Poland the underdogs.

Holland, the eventual finalists, played the Austrians off the park, and their 5–1 victory gave them a substantial advantage over both Italy and West Germany, who fought out a sterile goalless draw in their game against each other. The Germans' defensive tactics and their apparent delight in taking one point off the Italians didn't augur well, and indeed, Helmut Schoen's last World Cup campaign was doomed to failure. They did take the lead in the Holland match twice, but the Dutch came back strongly and first Haan, then Rene Van der Kerkhof equalized. The decision was left to the last game, with Holland needing just a draw against the, by now, less than rampant Italians. They did even better, winning 2–1 – Brandts scoring for both sides, and Haan beating Zoff from fully 30 yards! In Group 'B', Argentina, after beating Poland, drew with Brazil 0–0 in a match best to be forgotten – the naked violence was a depressing testimony of what football can be about in our times – if the stakes are high enough. Running neck-and-neck, only goal difference separated these two South American giants, and when Brazil beat Poland 3–1, Argentina had to score at least four goals against Peru to reach the final. The fact that they were allowed to kick off about four hours later than Brazil was a much discussed topic, but FIFA insisted that previous arrangements with TV companies had prevented them altering the blatantly unfair blueprint of the competition (my adjectives, not theirs!). The hosts duly scored not four but six times against Peru whose goalkeeper Quiroga was actually born in Argentina. No blame should be attached to the bemused Quiroga, who incidentally, in one game, was cautioned because he deliberately fouled Lato of Poland inside the Polish half of the field! But one Brazilian paper wrote: 'If Brazil had won 50–0 against Poland, Argentina would have beaten Peru 52–0!' Slight exaggeration, and he forgot to mention that Brazil didn't win anything like 50–0 . . . Claudio Coutinho, Brazil's manager, also joined the ranks of those who denounced Peru, and he declared that his country's team were the 'moral' winners of the Cup. To which Cesar Luis Menotti, Argentina's chain-smoking boss replied: 'I congratulate Brazil on their moral victory. Now, I hope Coutinho will congratulate us on our 'real' win?'

Because, as one might have guessed after such preliminaries, Argentina did win the Cup – the third host country to do so in the last four tournaments! They scored through the excellent Kempes in the first half against Holland, but Nanninga equalized in a much better second half – not only for the Dutch, but for football itself. Rensenbrink hit the post minutes before the Italian referee Gonella blew for extra time. In that period, the Argentinians got on top, and Kempes again and then Bertoni netted in front of a delirious crowd. Brazil, technically still the best footballing nation in the world, finished third after beating Italy 2–1 in a highly enjoyable game in the traditional non-event called 'play-off for third place', and they were the only unbeaten side in Argentina.

No World Cup competition can possibly fail to intrigue and entertain. The 1978 finals were no exception, but it left a bitter taste in the mouth. Must the home countries be so blatantly assisted from the draw to the final match? Would it not be better to revert to the old quarter-final, semi-final system instead of two lots of mini-leagues? Should the referees be censored for their weak-kneed handling of the games? These are only a few of the relevant questions which must be answered – positively – before Spain 1982: On the credit side, we have seen the emergence of attacking football. Argentina, if perhaps not a great team, were always positive and adventurous – they played with four forwards (two of them 'old-fashioned' wingers). Holland are still the flagbearers of total football, and Italy were only successful when they abandoned their traditional defensive stance. The ball-control of the Brazilians was delightful, the shooting power of Haan, Dirceu, Cubillas, unforgettable. The tournament lacked great star players, but I would give Fillol, Passarella, Ardiles and Kempes 'world-class' rating alongside Krol, Rensenbrink, Bettega, Tresor, Platini, Nelinho, Oscar, Dirceu, Prohaska, Krankl, Maier, Zoff and Hellstrom. In these days, when the team is more important than its component parts, one cannot hope for more, so we must be satisfied with the slightly below par tournament which goes into the history books as Argentina – Mundial '78.

ROTHMANS FOOTBALL AWARDS 1978

The following six people are to receive special awards from Rothmans for having made a worthwhile contribution to the wide spectrum of the game in season 1977–78.

KENNY DALGLISH. When he switched from Celtic to Liverpool in the close season, Kenny Dalglish seemed to have one of the hardest jobs in football – following in the quicksilver footsteps of Kevin Keegan. But in no time the Scot's energy, modesty and scoring skills had confirmed him as the new King of the Kop. He capped a fine season by shooting the late winner against FC Bruges that kept the European Cup at Anfield for the second year running. Now he can look forward to another European campaign and help to prove that Scotland, despite the disasters of Argentina, are still a force with which to be reckoned.

BOB LATCHFORD. This high-scoring Everton and England centre-forward went into the last game of the season, against Chelsea at Goodison, needing to score two rather special goals. It came as no surprise to Evertonians when he got them in style, so becoming the first man to reach the 30-goal target in the First Division since Francis Lee of Manchester City in 1971–72. Typically, Latchford insisted on sharing the praise – and the £10,000 prize from a National Newspaper he collected for his feat – with the rest of the team. He made special mention of winger Dave Thomas, who served up an endless supply of pin-point crosses. Latchford's recall to the England side was well-deserved.

JOHN McGOVERN. This articulate player's quiet authority on and off the pitch played a major part in Nottingham Forest's sparkling return to the First Division. A natural leader, McGovern steered Brian Clough's men to the League and League Cup and a place in the European Cup next season. The mutual respect between captain and manager has been forged in a ten-year partnership spanning all four divisions. At Hartlepool, Derby, Leeds and Nottingham, McGovern has shared the ups and downs of Clough's career. His busy, tidy style rarely sets the terraces alight but McGovern's contribution is only under-rated by the foolish. A player's player in the true sense and a worthy winner of this award.

BOBBY ROBSON. When the country cousins from Ipswich came to London and outplayed Arsenal, the city slickers, to win the FA Cup for the first time in their history, it was above all a victory for Bobby Robson. Until that epic encounter, Ipswich seemed typecast for the backstage role of runners-up. So often threatening to capture a major trophy, Robson's attractive squad, crammed with internationals, was always thwarted at the last. But he stayed loyal to the team he fashioned, most of them products of the youth scheme, and was rewarded when local boy Roger Osborne scored the only goal at Wembley. Now entering his tenth year in charge of the East Anglian side, Geordie Robson says he never thinks twice about turning down lucrative offers from bigger clubs. His faith in the traditional virtues of the British game – strength, speed and commitment to attack – paid dividends in the end and encouraged Ron Greenwood to include him in the national coaching set-up. Robson finished a memorable season by taking the England B team on a successful Far East tour.

JOHN GREIG. The longest-serving player on the Rangers staff, John Greig was paid the ultimate compliment before he retired at the end of last season: he became the first Rangers player ever to be awarded a testimonial. It was no more than he deserved after a career spent entirely at Ibrox. Greig's great value to Rangers and Scotland derived as much from the inspirational example he set for other players as from his work as a reliable and constructive defender. By leading the Glasgow side to the League, Cup and League Cup treble, Greig's playing days ended where they began – at the top. And at once a new chapter opened up with Greig's appointment as the Rangers manager.

BILLERICAY. Not much more than three years ago Billericay were an obscure Essex Senior League side. In successive years they won the FA Vase and last season saw them achieve Athenian League honours in their first term in that company, as well as the League Cup, Essex Senior Trophy and the Essex Floodlit Cup. The day after one of their Wembley Vase triumphs they even played in a five-a-side tournament at the Crystal Palace and won for themselves a set of floodlights.

DIARY 1977-78

July
McCreadie leaves Chelsea . . . Docherty leaves United . . . Sexton quits QPR . . . Revie resigns as England Manager.

1 Eddie McCreadie the Chelsea manager, leaves the club only a few weeks after taking them back into the First Division. He is not satisfied with the terms offered to him by the Board . . . Leeds sign Arthur Graham from Aberdeen for £100,000.

2 Bob Wilson is back in football. He re-signs for his old club, Arsenal, as an emergency goalkeeper in case first choice Jimmey Rimmer is injured. Wilson is staying with the BBC as linkman and commentator.

3 Tommy Docherty is sacked at Manchester Utd for 'breach of contract'! Docherty says: 'I have been punished for falling in love. What I have done has got nothing at all to do with my track record as a manager.'

Fulham pay £60,000 for Kevin Lock of West Ham, and Wolves buy Peter Daniel from Hull for £150,000.

13 Scotland open the Home Internationals with a disappointing 1-1 draw against N Ireland at Hampden. Martin O'Neill scores for the visitors, and Derek Johnstone equalizes. At Cardiff in front of only 17,698 people, England continue to show improvement by beating Wales 3-1. Latchford's early goal is cancelled out by Phil Dwyer, but Currie scores a spectacular second, and Peter Barnes gets a third. Several players are injured in the two games – Trevor Cherry is the worst casualty, he is taken off with a broken collarbone.

15 Malcolm Macdonald undergoes an operation for the removal of a cartilage from his right knee . . . Jack Taylor referees China's Cup final in Peking between Tientsin and Hupeh Province . . . Russia clinch the UEFA Youth Cup, Yugoslavia are second, Poland third.

16 A Phil Neal goal gives England a narrow win over the 'plucky' Irish. Ron Greenwood says: 'In some ways it is more difficult to play against N Ireland than it is against the Italians or West Germans, because they don't give you space – that's why I prefer to play two men wide as we did against Wales' . . . Colin Powell of Charlton is sold to the US club, New England, for £87,500.

17 Scotland fail once again to impress at Hampden Park. They take the lead against Wales through Derek Johnstone, but the visitors have a chance to equalize from a penalty three minutes from the end. Brian Flynn hits the post from the spot. In the closing seconds goalkeeper Blyth rolls the ball out to Willie Donachie who promptly hits it into his own goal – the craziest finish to a Home International. Ally MacLeod says: 'We showed much more fire and for 20 minutes in the second half we really flashed the ball around'. McQueen is taken off with an injury, and is out of the England match . . . Tommy Docherty fines Don Masson £500 for not attending the club's match against Arsenal. Masson wasn't in the Derby team, but was asked to stand by in case of emergency . . . Bob Smith is the new manager of Swindon – his place at Port Vale goes to former assistant, Dennis Butler.

18 The Daily Mail writes: 'Argentina's security forces have warned that they will not allow armed guards from abroad to accompany teams to the World Cup Finals. This follows reports that France and W Germany were considering sending anti-terrorist marksman with their players' . . . Ron Greenwood proposes that in future the Home Championship should be decided by goal difference if teams finish level on points. 'We are not going to Argentina, because Italy had a better goal difference, and Italy are hardly worried about qualifying that way. There is no satisfaction for anyone in sharing the title'. . .

19 WBA beat the Republic of China 2-0 at Peking in front of 80,000 very polite spectators . . . Terry Cooper is suspended by Middlesbrough for not being willing to go to Norway with the club . . . Brian Clough is the Bell's Manager of the Year. Bob Paisley is given a special award, and the divisional awards go to Ian Greaves (Bolton), Arfon Griffith (Wrexham) and Graham Taylor (Watford) . . . Wales beat N Ireland 1-0 with a Nick Deacy penalty.

20 England regain the Home Championship by beating Scotland 1-0 at Hampden Park. The only goal of the match is scored by Steve Coppell in the 83rd minute following a goalkeeping blunder. Ally MacLeod says: 'I just cannot accept losing today. We were tremendous, England were terrible. What made it worse is that the goal was scored by the worst player on the park'. Ron Greenwood: 'Scotland played well. I don't think they will come up against many sides of England's tenacity in Argentina'. . . Bob Stokoe is returning to Blackpool as manager.

22 Michel Hidalgo, French national team manager, foils a kidnap attempt near Bordeaux, where his squad is preparing for the World Cup. The attack on him is apparently politically motivated, and its aim was to free prisoners in Argentina.

24 England beat a tentative Hungary team at Wembley 4-1. Barnes, Neal (pen), and Francis score in the first half, and in the second Nagy's goal is answered by a tremendous Tony Currie shot. Ron Greenwood says: 'If I packed up tomorrow I'd like to think I had contributed a little towards putting the smile back on the face of English football. It was satisfying to score four goals, but you have to take into account they were found wanting defensively' . . . Hugo Hovenkamp and Wim Van Hanegem withdraw from the Holland World Cup squad . . . Bobby Moore will no longer play for the Danish Third Division club, Herning . . . Jock Wallace of Rangers is the new manager of Leicester City, his place in Glasgow is taken by ex-skipper John Greig . . . West Ham put Bill Green and Frank Lampard on the transfer list.

25 A positive step is taken to combat soccer hooliganism. A £1 million grant is given to football clubs to provide facilities for their supporters during the week. 'We do not want the money to go into bricks and mortar, we want it used to provide leadership and management, equipment, and the reclamation of derelict land as kick-about areas' says Denis Howell, Minister for Sport. He has set up a working committee under Dickie Jeeps, who takes over as Sports Council Chairman . . . Luton pay £120,000 for Dave Syrett of Swindon.

26 Gordon McQueen is out of the Scotland opening World Cup match against Peru, but he is confident that he'll be able to play later in the tournament.

28 Billy McNeill leaves Aberdeen to take over Celtic. A job will be created for Jock Stein to carry on his long, very successful association with the club. The move means that next season Scotland's three best teams will be under new management – Rangers, Celtic, Aberdeen . . . WBA complete a tour of Communist China – they won all their matches.

29 Neeskens is doubtful for Holland's opening World Cup match – he is in bed with a throat infection . . . Ron Greenwood and Bill Taylor fly out to Argentina to study the World Cup teams.

30 It is reported in The Sun that the FA are unhappy with Brian Clough's record with the England Youth team. Since his appointment neither he nor Peter Taylor have demonstrated their willingness to work with the squad. It is suggested that Clough's future as a possible England senior manager is in jeopardy. Later, Ron Greenwood says that Clough was away working for Nottingham Forest when the Youth games were played, and he is still regarded as a valuable and important member of his team . . . Les Barrett moves to US and will play for California Spurs.

31 World Cup referees are told to be ultra strict with offenders. The 16 teams are also being given directives about their conduct, and they are being warned that the referees are under orders not to shy away from awarding penalties . . . Jozsef Bozsik, member of the legendary Hungarian team in the fifties dies at the age of, 53 . . . Yugoslavia win the European U-21 Championship on a 5-4 aggregate over E Germany.

June

1 The World Cup opens with a glittering ceremony which is followed by dull football. Holders W Germany draw with Poland 0-0 – the fourth consecutive time when the opening match has not provided a single goal . . . Manchester City pays a club record £350,000 for Paul Futcher . . . Allan Clarke is the new player/manager of Barnsley – it is a £45,000 deal, also a record for the Yorkshire club . . . Bradford City sign veteran Leeds defender, Paul Reaney.

2 Wigan Athletic is the new member of the Football League. In the first vote they tie with Southport, but in the second round they win 29-20. The annual meeting endorses the Common Market decision that two foreign players per club are allowed to play in England – not counting Republic of Ireland nationals . . . In the World Cup Italy beat France, Tunisia surprise Mexico, and Argentina defeat Hungary. All three winning teams concede the first goal – Italy in 31 seconds when Lacombe scores from a centre by Six . . . Mexico score from a penalty, but Tunisia get three goals in the second half . . . Csapo opens the scoring for Hungary, Luque equalizes, and in a stormy finish Bertoni nets the winner. Both Torocsik and Nyilasi are sent off by Portuguese referee Garrido . . . Denis Follows, ex-FA Secretary, is given a Knighthood in the Queen's Birthday Honours' list . . . Santiago Berniebeau, 82 year old President of Real Madrid dies. . . .

FOOTBALLER OF THE YEAR

The Football Writers Association was founded in 1947, and it was proposed that the members should elect the Footballer of the Year at the end of each season. The first recipient of the Award, a statuette of a footballer on a square plinth, was one of the all-time greats, Stanley Matthews. The Award, presented at a dinner held in London during Cup Final week, is given 'to the Player, who by precept and example on and off the field, shall have been considered to have done most for football during that season'. To this day, this Award has remained the most prestigious for any player, and the dinner in his honour is an important occasion for English football.

The 1978 Award winner was Kenny Burns of Nottingham F who made such an outstanding contribution to Forest's great season, in which they won the League and League Cup and were in contention for a unique 'treble' until the sixth round of the FA Cup. Burns, born in Glasgow, joined Forest from Birmingham C at the beginning of the season, and established himself as one of the most dominating back-four players in the game. Included in Scotland's World Cup squad, Burns has played for his country both as a defender and as a striker.

Brian Clough is Manager of the Year

Brian Clough of Nottingham Forest – England's stylish Football League champions and League Cup winners – was named Manager of the Year 1978 by the Bell's Scotch Whisky Football Managers Awards panel of 25 leading soccer writers and commentators.

Clough is only the second manager to win the English First Division championship with two different clubs – the first being the legendary Herbert Chapman of Huddersfield Town and Arsenal. Clough's first championship success was with Derby County in 1972 – the club he took from the Second Division (as champions) in 1968.

A special award was made to Bob Paisley of Liverpool – Manager of the Year in 1976 and 1977 and a close contender for the 1978 title – in recognition of being the first manager to lead a British club to win the European Cup twice.

The managers of the three other Division championship-winning clubs were awarded Divisional Manager of the Season awards: Ian Greaves (Bolton) in Division Two; Arfon Griffiths(Wrexham) in Division Three; and Graham Taylor (Watford) in Division Four.

Each of these managers received a cheque for £500 and an inscribed salver, presented by Mr Alan Hardaker, general secretary of The Football League.

European Footballer of the Year 1977

For the first time ever a Dane, Allan Simonsen, was elected by the illustrious jury of internationally known football writers as European Footballer of the Year.

Simonsen, a brilliant winger, who is capable of beating opponents by sheer speed or by going past them using his impeccable ball-control, is a professional in West Germany playing for Borussia Moenchengladbach. He is a deadly finisher, and has scored several stunning goals in his club's European Cup campaign, perhaps none better than the one in Budapest when he left the entire Vasas defence standing, and then thundered an unstoppable shot past the astonished Ferenc Meszaros. His opportunist goal in the Rome final, when he capitalised on the one error committed by the Liverpool defence on the right, was another good example of the little Dane's exceptional finishing power.

Kevin Keegan also had a remarkable game on that humid night in the Italian capital, and his display in front of a world-wide audience – thanks to television – has earned him second place in the voting. Michel Platini, architect of the current revival of French football, a constructive goalscoring midfielder came third – it is certainly good to see three attacking players occupying the 'medal' positions.

Review of the Season

After squeezing into the First Division at the last moment even Brian Clough had to admit that survival was Nottingham Forest's priority for the season. By the time they were crowned champions for the first time in April, it was hard to imagine the First Division without them.

Such was their impact on domestic football, that the treble of League title, FA Cup and League Cup was a reality until an FA Cup quarter-final defeat by West Bromwich. That was taken in their stride and the consolation was the League Cup final replay defeat of Liverpool 10 days later, even with the ineligible Shilton, Gemmill and Needham watching the 'shadow' team from the bench. A month later came the title-winning draw at Coventry to complete a unique double.

But it was Forest's runaway success in the gruelling months of the championship which astonished the football world. At first it baffled rivals and critics, eventually drew grudging admiration and finally the unstinted praise it richly deserved.

At Christmas, six points from four holiday games finally convinced the last of the dwindling sceptics that the bubble would not burst and it was only by virtue of having more games played that Everton once came within four points of the leaders in the run-in. Forest climaxed the season with a goalless draw in the forbidding Anfield home of deposed champions Liverpool to finish seven points clear of the Merseysiders with 64 – a total bettered only by four post-war champions.

How did Clough, with the stabilising influence of management partner Peter Taylor, emulate another bluff Yorkshireman, Herbert Chapman, in being the only man to take two clubs to the title?

His inspirational and leadership qualities are unquestioned and his influence permeates all levels of the revitalised Forest. But it was his shrewdness and boldness in the transfer market which laid the foundations to a remarkable season.

Shilton, Burns, Needham and Gemmill brought class to his workmanlike promotion side and as a bonus his Scotland winger John Robertson and Young England striker Tony Woodcock were to thrive in the First Division and emerge as matchwinners.

Forest's football was simple but positive providing no room for shirkers and if there are still those who are searching for the vital ingredients in Clough's formula perhaps they should look no further than the old fashioned virtues of hard work, honesty and integrity he demands from all his players.

Despite Forest's domination of the race there were a handful of teams clinging desperately to their shirt tails with pretensions to the title. Everton, competent but a little dour, were the most dogged and they have the consolation of a place in Europe plus the first 30-goal man for seven seasons in Bob Latchford, who earned £10,000 from a national newspaper by completing the feat on the last Saturday of the season with two goals in a 6-0 defeat of Chelsea. More than shades of Dixie Dean there!

Arsenal's young team struck a skilful mid-season consistency and it looks as if their time will come despite being badly beaten Cup Final favourites. Manchester City remain a puzzle. They had one of the strongest squads but never mixed into the blend of champions.

Although Liverpool finished as runners-up to complete an amazing six years in which they have been three times champions and three times runners-up, they were never a threat once Forest wrested their early leadership in October.

Not surprisingly, Liverpool felt they had bigger fish to fry in Europe and their concentration on the League Cup for the first time eased Forest's task. A major crisis developed in November when Liverpool lost three successive League games for the first time in six years. Bob Paisley calmly diagnosed a little flagging in midfield and went out and paid £352,000 for Graeme Souness. Rumours of Liverpool's demise proved dangerously premature as they took 18 out of the last 20 points to overhaul frustrated Everton with the form that was to retain the European Cup.

Elsewhere, the transfer spiral almost disappeared out of sight despite revelations that the English game is some £16 million in the red and only five clubs are operating at a profit. One of those, Manchester United, spent £850,000 on Leeds United's prized Scots Joe Jordan and Gordon McQueen in their bid to rejoin the elite under Dave Sexton. The £500,000 for defender McQueen in February broke the British record set seven months earlier by Liverpool for another Scot, Kenny Dalglish, whose first season's repayment was a haul of 30 League and Cup goals.

Nobody could keep Tommy Docherty out of the market place as he pursued over £1 million of business to keep Derby in the First Division. He plans to relaunch his 4-2-4 perpetual motion machine in Derby colours this season in a bid to strengthen the Midland revival, led by Forest, that has West Bromwich, Coventry and Aston Villa surprising and entertaining us in their wake.

The relegation issue was almost as clear cut as Forest's first championship in their 113 year history. On the day in October that Forest took over at the top, the bottom three positions were occupied by Leicester, Newcastle and West Ham. That was how it would be at the end with hardly a whimper from the first two. Newcastle's sad departure to the Second Division was an almost inevitable result of their internal strife in the past few seasons and Bill McGarry plans a whole new team. Frank McLintock's brief and salutary lesson in management ended just before the fate of an inadequate Leicester side was mathematically decided, while West Ham finally lost their almost annual battle for survival, fighting to the last and leaving nerves shattered at Queen's Park Rangers, Chelsea and Wolves, the last of whom saved themselves and burst the Upton Park bubbles by beating Aston Villa four days before the Cup Final.

The struggle to reach up to the First Division ended with the three favourites – Bolton, Southampton and Tottenham – duly promoted, but not before the most fascinating battle in all four divisions had been drawn out to the last day of the season by Brighton's brave challenge.

Bolton survived another attack of nerves to take the championship with their crisp economical football while Lawrie McMenemy saw the fruits of a brave decision to dismantle his star-studded FA Cup winning side and invest in less flamboyant but quietly efficient players. Tottenham's resilient young side soon recovered from the traumas of relegation and appeared to be strolling back to the First Division until they lost momentum in the second half of the season, particularly in front of the White Hart Lane faithful.

It was they who came under attack from Brighton who spent wisely in a bid for a second promotion year. But on a tense last Saturday, Tottenham earned the point they needed at Southampton and kept Brighton in fourth place on goal difference with 56 points – four more than Forest had gone up with a year earlier.

The outcome at the bottom of the division was even more dramatic and Blackpool must still be wondering how they find themselves in the Third Division for the first time in their history, with Mansfield and Hull. Early promotion runners, they slipped down gradually until Orient, FA Cup semi-finalists, saved themselves in the last Second Division game of the season with a victory at Cardiff and completed Blackpool's misery as the first relegation dark horses.

The story of the Third and Fourth Divisions was of outstanding teams in Wrexham and Watford. The Welsh side enjoyed another season of giant-killing by reaching the quarter-finals of both League and FA Cups before walking away with their championship. Cambridge gave hope to all the little clubs by bridging the Fourth and Second Divisions in two seasons while Preston are carrying their heads a little higher under the no-nonsense approach of Nobby Stiles.

Watford cleaned up the Fourth Division – it's nothing but the best for Elton John. The Third Division will hold no terrors for the ambitious pop star chairman who has gathered such staff names as Bertie Mee and Eddie Plumley around him, not to mention one of the most promising young managers in the game in Graham Taylor.

In all it was a season of hope with the new champions' positive approach under Brian Clough mirrored in the national revival under Ron Greenwood. But the threats to the game remain – the creaking financial structure, the increasing violence on and off the field which always stirs brave words from the clubs but seldom brave actions. If the game can throw up men of Clough's and Greenwood's calibre in the dressing room why not in the real corridors of power?

Introduction to Club Section

This year's edition shows on 'page 1' of the club section an at-a-glance key to the Football League careers of the various teams, which we hope readers will find of value in pinpointing a particular season in the club's history. In order to achieve this and mindful of the fact that this page is as overcrowded as any in the book, it has been necessary to ignore two World War periods when the normal League programme was suspended, 1915–19 and 1939–46.

As to 'pages 2 and 3' of this section, these appear as last year. On 'page 4' despite lack of space again, any player who appeared during the 1977–78 season as either a non-contract player or associated schoolboy has been noted separately. All other players listed except in special circumstances are contract players. Regrettably it is not possible to include all players, though all contract players figure in the list.

When clubs have retained the League registration of a player who has not been on the playing strength for various reasons, these have been listed at the foot of the page. Details of their playing records can be found in earlier editions, of course.

Similarly with a few clubs, specific players who did not appear in the League side in 1977–78 might have been included without details of their previous history but again last year's edition will have covered their careers.

The vexed question of players' ages is a continuing source of correspondence from readers. Unfortunately we must state again that since the majority of clubs are against the publication of their players' dates of birth, we prefer to accept the principle and refrain from including them. But at the same time, even if there was a majority in favour of reproduction of these ages we would still decline in the interests of the minority.

As far as height and weight are concerned, as we have stated previously, the players report for training after our press deadline and this information may be missing for certain comparative newcomers to the professional ranks.

We would like to thank the club secretaries who were kind enough to inform us of changes affecting their club and also those who again allowed us to reproduce their badges.

This year our final 'copy date' for completing information in this section was, with a few exceptions, 1 June. Thus some additional details concerning transfers, changes of colours etc., will not have been recorded.

Extra Information: Goalkeeper Dickie Guy joined Wimbledon in July 1967 as an amateur and has made over 600 appearances in those ten years. He was accorded the rare accolade for a non-League player of being awarded a Rothmans Footballer of the Year Trophy in 1975 after a series of brilliant displays in Wimbledon's record-breaking FA Cup run which took them to the Fourth round. En route they beat Burnley, the first win by a non-League club on a First Division ground for 54 years and then held Leeds United at Elland Road before losing the replay to an own goal at Crystal Palace.

Guy earned nationwide fame by saving a penalty from Peter Lorimer in the first game but actually played better at Burnley.

In 1976–77 he repeated his acrobatics against Middlesbrough in a third round replay at Ayresome Park but despite several fine saves was ironically beaten by a David Armstrong penalty midway through the second half and Wimbledon lost 1-0.

Ian Cooke, a former club captain, is Wimbledon's longest serving player, joining as an amateur in 1963-64. He played 750 games for the club, scoring over 360 goals in those 14 years and was awarded a testimonial last year. Played in the FA Cup matches with Burnley, Leeds and Middlesbrough. Ironically Cooke didn't play serious football until he was 17 because he attended Old Emanuel School exclusively a rugby playing one. Joined Slough at the start of the 1977-78 season.

Liverpool became the first British team to retain the European Cup when they beat Bruges 1-0 at Wembley. Our picture shows the team parading the trophy after their victory.

Brian Clough directing operations. The double success of his Nottingham Forest team in winning the League and League Cup and the style of their football caught the imagination of the country.

Footballer of the Year Kenny Burns, pictured here with Liverpool's Fairclough, was a key figure in Forest's great season.

Beattie and Geddis with the FA Cup after Ipswich's victory over Arsenal. It was a case of 'murdering them 1-0'.

The first leg of the Scottish treble. Cooper scores for Rangers in the League Cup final against Celtic – Johnstone is the man jumping to avoid the shot. Rangers went on to take the League and Cup as well.

The goal that sent Scotland to Argentina. Masson scores from the penalty spot against Wales at Anfield.

England's revival under Ron Greenwood was emphasised in the 1-1 draw with Brazil at Wembley. The picture shows Dirceu of Brazil and Coppell.

The great Pele takes the number 10 shirt off for the last time, before presenting it to his father (left). After the match – against Santos – it was announced that the number 10 would never be worn again by a Cosmos' player.

FA Cup 1977-78

Wembley, fast becoming the graveyard for favourites, staged another of its traditional upsets as the FA Cup found a new home for the second time in three years.

Ipswich, those honest, hard-working country cousins from rural Suffolk, took the trophy and with it the praise of every fascinated neutral, most of whom had given them not the ghost of a chance against the new inspired Arsenal.

Unlike the previous rank underdogs Southampton who had spoiled the 1976 final as a spectacle by stopping Manchester United playing, Ipswich not only checked Arsenal's advance but performed so well when they had the ball that a scoreline of 4-0 would not have flattered them.

In Don Howe, their coach and master planner, Arsenal seemed to possess the shrewdest tactician in the game. Yet Howe and manager Terry Neill had no answer to the master-stroke devised by Bobby Robson and his assistant Cyril Lea that enabled Ipswich to control a compelling game from the beginning to its emotional end.

Arsenal were comprehensively outwitted by the Ipswich spies, who had watched them three times before the final, noticing that 90 per cent of their raids originated with Sammy Nelson at left back. They had observed that Liam Brady and Alan Hudson dropped off Nelson to create triangular moves that invariably succeeded in getting the entire attack operating along a broad front, employing Malcolm Macdonald's pace, Frank Stapleton's height, Alan Sunderland's enterprise down the opposite flank and the thrust of David Price just behind him.

'Stop Nelson and you stop Arsenal', Robson told his players, who carried out the command to the zenith of their ability. David Geddis was pulled out of the middle and told to occupy Nelson, running at him whenever possible, harassing the full-back whenever he threatened to take the ball out of defence. The scheme worked like a charm even if Ipswich did have to survive an early let-off, before they could get their game in order, when David O'Leary put his half volley too close to Paul Cooper's goal for comfort.

Ipswich's reply was immediate, Paul Mariner going straight down to the other end to pull his shot a foot past the far upright before smacking his next attempt against the bar.

With Clive Woods tormenting Pat Rice, Geddis forcing Nelson ever further back the midfield trio enjoying fruitful possession and the rock-like pair of Allan Hunter and Kevin Beattie repelling Arsenal's infrequent sorties, Ipswich should have been comfortably ahead by half-time. But the goal just would not come and when John Wark blasted two drives against the same post Robson must have despaired that it ever would. The Ipswich bench appealed to the Gods soon after when Pat Jennings launched himself sideways to produce a magnificant save and keep out George Burley's header.

Yet Ipswich were not to be denied for much longer. Geddis, receiving from Woods who had crossed over to the other side, set off on a run that took him past Nelson and Hudson. The cross was driven low into the goalmouth and when it came back off Willie Young, Roger Osborne pounced to score just inside an upright.

It was all too much for Osborne, who accepted the hearty backslaps from his jubilant colleagues before passing out. He was escorted off and replaced by Mick Lambert who helped Ipswich hold out for their triumph.

But if Ipswich received the ultimate glory any number of other small-town clubs had entertained thoughts of appearing at Wembley for unusually long in the competition. Three of the quarter-finals took place at such unlikely places as Wrexham, Millwall and Middlesbrough, whose visitors were Orient, who were to go on to win a replay just as they had when paired against other First Division clubs Norwich and Chelsea in the earlier rounds.

Millwall, whose tie was interrupted by crowd invasions, were firmly put in their place by 6-1 winners Ipswich but Wrexham fought to the end before losing 3-2 to Arsenal. In the other game, goals by Albion's marksmen Mick Martin and Cyrille Regis ended Nottingham Forest's hopes of the treble.

With so many of the glamorous clubs meeting each other – Chelsea knocking out Liverpool and Manchester City defeating Leeds in the two biggest collisions – and others losing to the giant killers it seemed likely that an outsider might reach Wembley. But if Ipswich were not quite that, Wrexham and Blyth Spartans certainly were.

The Welsh club, destined for their long-overdue promotion from the Third Division, had already disposed of Bristol City in a replay after a remarkable 4-4 draw, and Newcastle

United before finding themselves matched against Blyth, themselves no respecters of reputations as Stoke, beaten 3-2 at home in the fourth round had discovered. It was the most curious fifth round tie for years but Wrexham survived it with the help of a fortuitous last minute goal on their own frozen pitch that took them to an ultimately successful replay at St James' Park. Yet with Wrexham, then falling to Arsenal, only Orient from outside the First Division were left to contest the semi-finals and their man for man marking system failed totally in the all London semi-final at Stamford Bridge.

The other semi-final had all the drama, Brian Talbot hurling himself forward to head Ipswich in front at the expense of concussion which put him out of the game after only eight minutes. He had collided with Albion's John Wile, who received an ugly gash for his pains, but carried on well into the second half sporting a blood-smeared band that left him looking like a war hero. But gallantry alone does not win medals. Ipswich had more determination and to that at Wembley they added the style that was to make theirs one of the most popular cup wins of them all.

THE FOOTBALL LEAGUE CUP 1977-78

For so long the poor relation of the English domestic cup competitions, the Football League Cup 'arrived' at last when the 1978 final threw up indisputably the country's top two teams: Nottingham Forest, destined to go on and win the league for the first time in their 113-year history, and Liverpool, the runners-up and European champions.

Both reached the tournament's final for the first time, and to do so they both had to eliminate other top clubs in the semi-finals, when for only the third time in the League Cup's 18-year history four First Division clubs contested the penultimate stage.

Leeds were sent packing by Forest, who won both legs by two clear goals, delighting in the process Brian Clough, who could not have hoped for a more satisfactory way of getting revenge on his previous club, who had, of course, severed his connection with them after a mere 44 days. Liverpool endured a far more strenuous passage, beating Arsenal by the odd goal in three at Anfield before surviving the game at Highbury in their best soak-it-all-up European away-leg tradition.

Yet when the need arose to score goals again, as it did in the final, Liverpool were for once found wanting. As clear favourites they were expected to dispose of a Forest side deprived of the services of Dave Needham, Archie Gemmill and Peter Shilton, who were cup-tied, all three having represented other clubs in the early rounds. But with their now admirable strength in depth, Forest had no difficulty in finding adequate replacements for their new centre half and key midfield player. On the other hand the effect of the absence of Shilton, now once again in the eyes of many, England's finest goalkeeper, was incalculable. It left Forest not only facing Shilton's rival for that distinction, Ray Clemence, but to overcome the massive handicap of having sold Shilton's predecessor, John Middleton, to Derby, leaving them with only 18-year-old Chris Woods in reserve.

Yet it was Woods, veteran of a handful of first team games, who captured just about every headline. Let off in the opening seconds when Kenny Dalglish delayed fatally before pulling his shot wide, Woods proceeded to get behind every Liverpool attempt – and there were many – directed at him. Displaying all the confidence, even arrogance, that might have been expected of Shilton, Forest's second choice defied Liverpool right through normal time and extra-time too. There were precious few occasions when his forwards relieved the pressure on him.

Having withstood the Liverpool onslaught once, few expected Woods to reproduce such composure in the replay at Old Trafford. But with Forest's attack no more effective than it had been in the first meeting, the burden fell again on the young goalkeeper, who was still unbeaten when John O'Hare chased a through pass into the Liverpool area with Phil Thompson in close pursuit. With the most expertly timed professional foul, or so it seemed at the time and television later confirmed, Thompson brought the Forest player crashing down a foot outside the penalty area. But referee Pat Partridge did not have the benefit of the cameras and Forest were awarded a penalty, which John Robertson swept past Clemence to give them the trophy.

Yet the matter did not rest there. The incensed Thompson, provoked beyond reason, deformed a television interviewer that the decision was a disgrace and subsequently found himself fined by the League for bringing the game into disrepute. Neutral observers were convinced, nevertheless, that justice was done when Partridge made his mistake.

Not for the first time Wrexham had stolen the show in the early rounds, maintaining their giant-killing reputation by advancing a round further than the previous season, and reaching the last eight. In doing so they eliminated two clubs of higher status, Charlton and Bristol City, before receiving their comeuppance against Liverpool. Bury, from the same Third Division, emulated them, reaching the quarter-finals after embarrassing Millwall – who had defeated Newcastle at St. James's Park – and humbling West Bromwich Albion before losing to Forest.

Forest showed their mettle in front of the partisan Gigg Lane crowd but it was pure inspiration that enabled them to overwhelm Leeds in the semi-final, and a case of proving that they did ultimately possess the resources to win a major trophy when Liverpool were beaten. If Clough and his able assistant Peter Taylor, who used to be a goalkeeper, had spotted a dead cert in Shilton, they must also have realised the potential of his extremely reliable understudy.

Review of Scottish Season

This season's league programme was vividly exciting to the end: Rangers, occupying an unusual bottom-of-the-table position at the beginning of the season, soon remedied that, and by mid-October were firmly ahead of the field and at one time looked to be coasting home; Aberdeen started to nudge up, however, gaining a point here and a point there and in the end it all depended on their last games. Rangers won theirs in convincing style, and with it the championship. Many would have liked to see an Aberdeen success, but no-one could deny that Rangers were worthy champions: new blood made them an exciting team, and their football was always sound and at times brilliant. Aberdeen achieved much in their first season under Billy McNeill. They played imaginative and at times devastating football; and their support grew in proportion to their standing. Dundee United, with a young team, promised much but seemed to lose the way to goal: third position, none the less, was a notable achievement. Hibs found their form in mid-season, and showed increasing class and penetration. Celtic had a bitterly disappointing season: there were several factors to explain their appalling form after last year's successes: the departure of Kenny Dalglish for the fleshpots of the south they might have borne with fortitude – if not equanimity – but the injury to Danny McGrain – what a cruel blow to Scotland, too – and the absence of other stalwarts and experienced players meant that Celtic never looked settled. Unusually, Jock Stein went into the buying market and some of his purchases caused an eyebrow or two to rise; the blend did not come, and a final fifth position meant that Celtic were not in a European competition for the first time in many years. At the lower end, Clydebank started badly and were soon out of touch with the rest; they are joined in the drop by Ayr United, who this time failed to find the New Year surge to safety.

In the first division there was a three-horse race: Morton, Hearts and Dundee all at times looked capable of holding their own in top company. There was suspense till the last afternoon when, although Dundee defeated Morton at Greenock, Hearts achieved the win they needed to join the already safe Morton. Well done Benny Rooney! And well done Willie Ormond in managing to bounce-back in one season! But spare a thought for Tommy Gemmell and his team who played attacking and attractive football, but had to suffer the bitterness of being the odd one out. East Fife, lucky to avoid relegation last season, had no difficulty in reaching it this time. Down with them go Alloa, who never quite looked the part in this division.

Up to Division One go Clyde: they have served their time downstairs, and now have much more of the lean and hungry look: if they can find the same inspiration, they can do well next season. With them go Raith Rovers, now managed by Willie McLean, and gaining poise from the return of Gordon Wallace (the elder) from Dundee United. Incidentally, it would make the writer's task much easier if teams were banned from having two players with the same name!) Dunfermline again missed the boat, showing great inconsistency; and challenges from Berwick, Falkirk and Forfar all evaporated: the right teams are going up.

The new form of the League Cup proved most successful, though the weather mid-term caused a postponement of the semi-finals and final into the Spring. In a lack-lustre final, Rangers won by the odd goal in three. No mention of this year's tournament, however, can fail to note the wonderful deeds of Forfar Athletic – some powerful scalps to their credit, and within seven minutes of a place in the final before finally succumbing to the might of Rangers.

The Cup produced rather few excitements this year. Kilmarnock reached the quarter-finals, having disposed of St Mirren and Celtic on the way; and Queen's Park brought back thoughts of old days by also reaching that stage of the competition, by way of Motherwell in the previous round. So to the final, contested by the two best teams in the country: it was a game in which the score (2-1 to Rangers) failed to do the champions justice. Through the season, Aberdeen had the better of the encounters; but this one was Rangers' day, and John Greig's as well – what a fine way to end a testimonial season for this magnificent servant to the club.

So, finally, to the Home Internationals – all three at Hampden. If the results were not to the liking of the partisan crowds, they none the less gave the best possible support to Ally MacLeod and his side after the last match and before their departure for Argentina. It was heartening to find the whole country so solidly behind its players.

Irish Football 1977-78

By Malcolm Brodie

Northern Ireland football both at domestic and international level, can only be described as outstanding during the past season – one of the most encouraging for years.

Sponsorship cash poured into the various competitions, including £10,000 from the Irish League; an all Ireland series was inaugurated and now only the Irish Cup remains to be commercially backed but, no doubt, some organisation will pick this up, too.

But, perhaps, the most significant factor was the decision of the Government to provide the eleven clubs with grant aid of up to £50,000 each on a pound for pound basis – Ballymena United did not qualify as its ground is municipally owned – to improve amenities. It was a magnificent gesture, an incentive for everyone.

The Irish FA got a similar amount, too, for improvements at Windsor Park as the international venue where a new £100,000 floodlighting system is to be installed, if possible for the start of the new season.

International manager Danny Blanchflower and his assistant, Tommy Cavanagh, have lifted the team out of the doldrums, given it an identity, a pattern of attacking, entertaining football which has been so refreshing, particularly in the British championship series and those World Cup victories over Iceland and Belgium.

Blanchflower's emphasis on youth, his liaison with Irish League clubs, meant an upsurge in the transfer market as more and more newcomers entered the international scene. The under-21 international with the Republic of Ireland proved exceptionally worthwhile and this will be the first of many similar fixtures.

Inter-League matches will be resumed with the Scots in the new season, in either September or October with Greenock or Kilmarnock the suggested venue.

Domestic football improved with, of course, Linfield's winning of the League and Cup double, and their striker Jim Martin collecting two Player of the Year awards the outstanding achievement. Player-manager Roy Coyle, a dedicated professional, did a superb job inspiring his side by personal example.

Youth teams have participated on the Continent, coaches' and referees' seminars have all met with success and, generally, it can be said that happy days are here again after some years of depression through the country's political problems. The resilience of everyone has to be commended.

FIRSTS IN FOOTBALL

Football League

The first five Football League games were played on 8 September, 1888. Bolton Wanderers were three goals up in about six minutes against Derby County, but were eventually beaten 6-3. Cox of Aston Villa scored the first 'own goal', giving Wolverhampton Wanderers an early lead, but Villa recovered to draw 1-1.

Huddersfield Town became the first team to complete a hat-trick of League Championships – 1924-25-26.

FA Cup

Tottenham Hotspur was the first Southern club to win the Cup when they beat Sheffield United in 1901. Spurs were then members of the Southern League and so were the first and only non-League club to carry off the trophy.

King George V was the first reigning monarch to attend a Cup Final. He saw Burnley beat Liverpool at the Crystal Palace in 1914.

David Jack (Bolton Wanderers) scored the first goal in a Wembley Cup Final. This was in 1923 when the crowd broke in to see the Wanderers beat West Ham United 2-0.

Extra time was first played in the Cup Final in 1877. Wanderers and Oxford University were drawing 0-0 at full-time, but Wanderers scored twice in extra time.

Internationals and representative games

The first representative game was played at Battersea Park, 31 March, 1866, London beating Sheffield by two goals and four touch-downs to nil.

The first official England v Scotland international was played at the West of Scotland Cricket Ground, Partick, 30 November, 1872, and resulted in a goalless draw.

Wales played their first international in 1876, losing 4-0 to Scotland in Glasgow.

Ireland's first international was against England at Bloomfield, Belfast, in 1882 when the visitors won 13-0.

Caps were first awarded for appearances in internationals in 1886.

The Football League played their first representative game in April, 1891. It was against the Football Alliance at Sheffield and resulted in a draw 1-1.

England's first defeat on foreign soil in a full international was against Spain in Madrid in 1929 when the Spaniards won 4-3.

England's first home defeat by a continental country was at Wembley in 1953 when Hungary won 6-3.

Scotland's first home defeat by a foreign team was at Hampden Park in 1950 when Austria won 1-0.

Billy Wright became the first international in Britain to gain 100 caps when he captained England against Scotland at Wembley in April, 1959.

Terry Venables was the first player to win international honours for England at five levels – Schoolboy, Youth, Amateur, Under-23 and Full International. He gained his first full cap in October, 1964.

Floodlit football

The first-ever game by floodlight was that between two Sheffield Association teams at Bramall Lane, 14 October, 1878.

The first FA Cup tie under floodlights was a replay between Kidderminster Harriers and Brierley Hill Alliance, 14 September, 1955.

Floodlights were first switched on during an international match in England in November, 1955 at Wembley – England v Spain.

The first Football League game under floodlights – Portsmouth v Newcastle United, at Fratton Park, 22 February, 1956.

The first full international played entirely under floodlights in Britain took place at Wembley in 1963 when England beat N. Ireland 8-3.

Hat-tricks

The first hat-trick in an FA Cup Final was that scored by William Townley for Blackburn Rovers v Sheffield Wednesday in 1890.

Equipment, etc.

Shinguards were first introduced and registered by Sam Widdowson of Nottingham Forest in 1874. The cross-bar first replaced the tape in 1875, and the whistle was used by the referee for the first time in 1878. Goalnets were invented and patented by J. A. Brodie of Liverpool in 1890 and were first used in the FA Cup Final in 1892.

Substitutes

First substitute in a Football League game – Keith Peacock of Charlton Athletic, at Bolton, 21 August, 1965.

The first instance of a substitute in a home International Championship game was at Wrexham in 1889 when a player named Pugh of Rhostyllen, took over from the injured S. G. Gillam in the Welsh goal against Scotland.

England's first substitute in a full international was Jimmy Mullen (Wolverhampton Wanderers) who took over from the injured Jackie Milburn after 10 minutes of the game against Belgium in Brussels, 18 May, 1950.

The first substitute to score in a Football League game was Bobby Know (Barrow) v Wrexham, Division 4, 21 August, 1965.

Transfers

The first four, five, and six-figure transfer fees between British clubs were as follows:

£1,000 – Alf Common, Sunderland to Middlesbrough, 1905.

£10,890 – David Jack, Bolton Wanderers to Arsenal, 1928.

£110,000 – Alan Ball, Blackpool to Everton, 1966.

Radio and TV
The first match broadcast in England was the First Division game between Arsenal and Sheffield United at Highbury, 22 January, 1927.
The first Football League game to be televised was Blackpool v Bolton Wanderers, 10 September, 1960.
The first F.A. Cup tie to be televised – other than the Final – was Charlton Athletic v Blackburn Rovers, 5th Round, 8 February, 1947.

Corner-kick
Billy Smith was the first player to score direct from a corner-kick in a Football League game – Huddersfield Town v Arsenal, 11 October, 1924.

Limited Company
The first football club to form itself into a limited liability company was Birmingham City in 1888. At that time they were still known as Small Heath.

Penalty kick
The first player to score from a penalty kick in a Football League match was Heath of Wolverhampton Wanderers v Accrington, Division I, 14 September, 1891.

Professional
The identity of the first professional footballer may never be definitely established, but it was probably J.J. Lang, a Scot who joined Sheffield Wednesday in 1876 after playing for Clydesdale and Glasgow Eastern.

Tour
Oxford University were the first to send a football team on an overseas tour. This was in 1875 when they visited Germany.

Sunday Football
The first Football League game to be played on a Sunday was that between Millwall and Fulham on the morning of 20 January, 1974. Eleven other Football League games were played later the same day.

MISCELLANEOUS

Brazil set up a record for undefeated matches in the World Cup in the 1958 and 1962 finals playing 13, winning 11, and drawing two. Their run ended when they lost 3–1 to Hungary in the 1966 World Cup.

Hungary went 13 years undefeated at home after losing 7–2 to Sweden in 1943 until they lost 4–2 to Czechoslovakia in 1956. The Hungarians also had a run of 29 games before losing from their 5–3 defeat against Austria in May 1950 until they lost the World Cup Final 3–2 to West Germany in July 1954.

Real Madrid were undefeated in League matches at home from February 1957 when they lost 3–2 to Atletico Madrid until beaten again by Atletico 1–0 in March 1965. Between these defeats they won 114 matches and drew eight.

Ferenc Deak was one of the most prolific goalscorers in League Football in the years immediately after the war. In 1945–46 he scored 66 goals for Szentlorinci AC in Hungary, 48 in 1946–47, and 59 in 1948–49 when with Ferencvaros.

Players who have won international caps for three different countries are Ladislav Kubala, capped for Hungary, Czechoslovakia, and Spain in the post-war period, and Alfredo Di Stefano for Argentina, Colombia and Spain.

The Nordahl brothers Knut, Bertil, and Gunnar won Olympic Gold medals with Sweden in 1948.

In 1955–56 Fiorentina went through 33 Italian League matches without defeat.

Thought to be the longest match on record, Santos (Brazil) and Penarol (Uruguay) played 3½ hours from 2 August to 3 August after kicking off at 9.30 a.m. The match ended 3–3 after interruptions during play, however.

The first international played in Europe other than between British teams was Austria 5 Hungary 0 on 12 October 1902. The first match in South America was between Argentina and Uruguay in 1905 and drawn 1–1.

The world record transfer fee is £922,300 for Johan Cruyff from Ajax (Holland) to Barcelona (Spain) in 1973.

Jimmy Cookson was the player who reached a first century of Football League goals in the shortest me. He made his debut for Chesterfield in 1925 and reached his century in December, 1927 with West romwich Albion when figuring in his 87th Football League game.

The record number of goals scored by a player making his Football League debut is five – by George ilsdon for Chelsea v Glossop, Division 2, 1 September, 1906.

The record for scoring the fastest goal in a Football League game is claimed by Jim Fryatt. According to eferee Mr. R. J. Simon this player scored for Bradford v Tranmere Rovers only four seconds after the ck-off, 25 April, 1964.

The fastest goals scored in the FA Cup Final at Wembley were obtained in the first minute. In 1928 hn Roscamp put Blackburn Rovers ahead when he charged both the Huddersfield goalkeeper and the ll into the net, and in 1955 Jackie Milburn headed Newcastle United into a first-minute lead over Manester City.

John McIntyre scored four goals in five minutes for Blackburn Rovers v Everton, Division 1, 16 ptember, 1922.

W. G. Richardson also scored four goals in five minutes for West Bromwich Albion, Division 1, 7 Novemr 1931, but this was even more remarkable because the feat was achieved in an away game – against est Ham United.

The record number of penalties missed by one side in a Football League Division 1 game is three. anchester City (Fletcher 2 and Thornley) missed this number against Newcastle United, 27 January, 1912.

The most penalties scored by a player in a First Division game is three – Billy Walker for Aston Villa v adford City, 12 November, 1921; Charlie Mitten for Manchester United v Aston Villa, 8 March, 1950 d Ken Barnes for Manchester City v Everton, December 7 1957.

The record number of players from the same club in an England team is seven, Frank Moss, George ale, Eddie Hapgood, Wilf Copping, Raymond Bowden, Ted Drake and Clifford Bastin, all of Arsenal, ıyed against Italy at Highbury, 14 November, 1934.

The England team twice included all Corinthian players in the 1890s but this cannot be considered a :ord because the Corinthians were a combined eleven, most of their players also appearing with other ıbs.

In season 1925–26 Cardiff City created a Football League record by having as many as 17 internationals their books. There were 9 Welsh internationals, 4 Scottish, and 4 Irish. This record was overhauled by anchester United during 1977–78. In April they had 18 internationals on their books—6 Scottish, English, 5 Northern Ireland, and 2 from Eire.

The England team that won the 1966 World Cup created a record for the country by remaining unanged in six consecutive games – the quarter-final, semi-final and final of the World Cup and their next ee games.

England's longest run without defeat is one of 20 games between 1889 and 1896.

The biggest championship winning margin for any division of the Football League is 15 points. Middlesbugh finished that far ahead of the runners-up in Division 2 in 1973–74.

The smallest number of players called upon by a club to complete a season of Football League gamesis by Liverpool when winning the Championship in 1965–66. Five of their players were ever-present.

In the Scottish League, Dundee called upon only 15 players throughout season 1961–62. They also won : Championship that season and had five players ever-present.

The goalscoring record for a goalkeeper in a single season of Football League games was set up in 1923–24 Arnold Birch of Chesterfield. In Division 3(N) games that season he scored five goals, all from penalties.

Six men have played in and managed Football League Championship winning teams: Ted Drake. senal, centre-forward, 1933–34, 1934–35, 1937–38; Chelsea, manager, 1954–55. Bill Nicholson, Tottenn Hotspur, right half-back, 1950–51, manager, 1960–61. Alf Ramsey, right-back, Tottenham Hotspur, 50–51, Ipswich Town, manager, 1961–62. Joe Mercer, left-half, Everton 1938–39, Arsenal 1947–48, 52–53. Manchester City, manager, 1967–68. Dave Mackay, left half, Tottenham Hotspur 1960–61, rby County, manager, 1974–75. Bob Paisley, Liverpool left-half-back, 1946–47; manager 1975–76, 76–77.

In 1973–74 Leeds United created a Football League record for the longest run without defeat from the rt of a season – 29 First Division games before losing 2–3 at Stoke. It could be said that this only alled Liverpool's run in the Second Division in 1893–94 when they were unbeaten in all 28 games. eir 29th game that season was the extra 'Test Match' to decide promotion and relegation between the st and Second Divisions.

British International Review

Highlighted by one of the season's most spectacular goals and certainly its most ludicrous, the Home Internationals rose slightly above expectations to give England their first outright win of the title for three years.

Scotland, who had been looking for a rousing send-off to Argentina, enjoyed the now familiar advantage of playing all three games at Hampden Park, but little of the cohesion so desperately needed for their World Cup task by Ally MacLeod.

As a result the Scots were left to pick up the pieces left from two disappointing draws and one frustrating defeat. They were beaten not only by the Auld Enemy but also finished below little Wales who gained some, if rather fortuitous, revenge for their controversial World Cup elimination at Anfield. Thus MacLeod's squad set off for South America, still not certain of their strongest formation, bemoaning the luck that made Gordon McQueen doubtful with a complicated knee injury caused by his collision with an upright, and without a win to get them in the right frame of mind.

But if Scotland were left ruing the fact that they had probably reached their peak a year too early, England provided new manager Ron Greenwood with immense hope for the future by winning all three games, even if their overall success owed more to commitment and consistency than sparkling improvization.

The only real exception was the recalled Tony Currie, who took a belated chance to establish himself as an England regular with his three most inspiring international appearances to date. Forever looking for the ball and chasing back to deep positions to retrieve it, Currie displayed all his finest qualities, arrogant skill and explosive shooting against the Welsh, concentration and stamina against the Irish and unremitting combativeness against the Scots.

Yet Currie hadn't even started the first match at Ninian Park. Chosen as substitute, he got his chance when Trevor Cherry fractured a collar bone, and came on to partner Trevor Brooking in midfield before unleashing the shot to beat them all. It flew past Dai Davies, who groped nothing but thin air as he did again in the last minute when the enterprising Peter Barnes took a leaf from the same book, left with dust on it by Bobby Charlton, to give England a flattering victory.

Wales certainly didn't deserve to lose by a two-goal margin after they had cancelled out a Bob Latchford header with one of their own from the muscular Phil Dwyer. The Cardiff utility player proved to be one of the tournament's successes as did his team-mate Carl Harris, who tormented Mick Mills when the England skipper switched flanks to accommodate Butch Wilkins on the right in the upheaval caused by Cherry's injury.

Meanwhile Northern Ireland were exposing Scotland before a surprisingly large Hampden crowd. Daunted not one bit by Scottish aspirations, the Irish, minus all their Arsenal defenders, casualties, broken hearted or otherwise from the Cup Final, took the game to their hosts, even having the effrontery to snatch an early lead when Gerry Armstrong broke through the middle. Getting the ball back after losing it in a muddled challenge, Armstrong laid a pass back for the magnificent Martin O'Neill to dispatch it beyond Alan Rough.

A goal created by the Derby pair Bruce Rioch and Don Masson presented Derek Johnstone with the chance to head a fine equaliser but the Scots, uncertain in the middle of their defence and, uninspired in the middle of the park, deserved and got more in the second half.

The Irish were equally resilient against the English at Wembley four days later, playing the more positive football in midfield, where England, having abandoned their fluid 4-2-4 system, appeared without wingers and almost suffered the consequences. But a goal struck home by Phil Neal on the stroke of half-time gave them victory in a game which rose to no great heights.

Twenty-four hours later the Scots took on Wales, forced them back for long periods with Graeme Souness and Archie Gemmill outstanding in midfield but still had only another memorable Derek Johnstone header to show for their efforts when Wales gained an 87th minute penalty. Brian Flynn squandered the chance and the Scots, it seemed, had survived. How wrong we were. Willie Donachie made the most catastrophic of blunders a minute from the end, catching Jim Blyth on the wrong foot with a time-consuming back pass and Wales had equalised.

They went one better on the Friday night, defeating the Irish with a Nick Deacy penalty at Wrexham to gain a belated victory before all eyes turned once more to Hampden Park. The Scots, needing a win to share the title attacked for long periods but when it came to the final pass or centre they were found horribly wanting. Ray Clemence did, it is true, suffer one or two anxious moments, but it was impossible to calculate that he had got away with the six mistakes alleged by Ally MacLeod. Joe Jordan, Rioch and company put themselves about, English defenders grinned and bore it, or went off as Emlyn Hughes did, then gained the most satisfying retribution through Steve Coppell's winner after yet another Scottish goalkeeping howler, from Rough. Ron Greenwood, given his first taste of real success as England manager refused to wipe the smile from his face, MacLeod said some rude things about England and Scotland departed for Argentina with their tails between their legs.

EUROPEAN REVIEW

by Leslie Vernon

While in days gone by, a club manager would consider a scouting trip to Darlington as the ultimate sacrifice in the never-ending quest for strengthening his team, in our time, Europe itself is the hunting ground of our leading coaches. They, and especially their Continental colleagues, think nothing of embarking on an overnight trip to some far-flung football capital, either to watch (and usually reject) a particular player, or to spy on the opposition for a forthcoming European tie. Besides these endless, and often pointless, journeys, top coaches are often called together for various conferences under the benevolent umbrella of the UEFA, FIFA, or a soft drink company, whose hard-sell campaign curiously includes the aim of teaching all and sundry how to play football. One could deduce that this constant interchange of opinions, the necessity to listen to the same lectures, read the same bulky documents at the end of the seminars, would lead to dull uniformity. Yet football tactics have never been more varied, playing styles more parochially 'traditional', the kaleidoscope more colourful. Blessed be those who beg to differ, and I welcome this independence, because it enriches the game, and we are able to look forward to 'clashes of style' in the international arena. Ron Greenwood, an 'ancient' apostle of 'Continental' football (if such an overall concept can be accepted), often says that we must improve our technique and marry it with our traditional virtues of strength, stamina, application, running and heading excellence. This sensible message was put in practice by Liverpool, a team perhaps not wholly appreciated in England. At a Press conference in April, both Claudio Coutinho, manager of Brazil, and Miljan Miljanic were extolling the virtues of the 'Reds', saying that if the current Liverpool side were allowed to enter the World Cup, they would probably finish in the first three. Although I agree that the old English saying 'familiarity breeds contempt' might apply, one has to distinguish between Liverpool in domestic competitions and the very same team in the wider international context. While, at home, they play the typical aggressive non-stop British game, and their off-side tactics often irritate crowd and opponents alike, they have learned that this type of football is not effective against the more sophisticated European foes. Consequently, as it was so brilliantly demonstrated in the Rome Final last year, in European Cup matches, Liverpool play a more patient game, holding the ball, using the defence as a 'safety deposit', while the highly effective midfield create space either for themselves or for the front-runners. Their regenerative powers – as a club – are quite unique. After Bill Shankly departed, many people thought that he might have taken a team's heart with him. But under Bob Paisley, Liverpool have flourished and have achieved even more than they ever did before. When Keegan and Toshack left, no-one expected such swift replacement for that deadly duo as was provided by Dalglish and the ever-improving Dave Fairclough. What is Liverpool's secret formula in Europe? Emlyn Hughes, skipper of the side says: 'Continental teams are frightened to death of us. They seem to be scared by our record and the fact that we play 70 games a season. I think they expect us to be super fit, everyone of us a man-mountain. The last few European teams have sat on defence, not daring to go forward in case we crush them.' These last 'few teams' included Moenchengladbach in the semi-finals of the European Cup, when the Germans simply folded at Anfield after an early Kennedy goal. The midfielder was completely unmarked, and similarly, Bonhof lost Dalglish later in the first half, when the Scottish ace found an inviting gap and shot past the badly positioned Kleff. Case's third goal after a leisurely dribble merely underlined Liverpool's superiority – arguably their best performance of the season. The final itself was a sad anti-climax, as Bruges were a beaten team in the dressing-room. For no apparent reason (Lambert's absence shouldn't have been such a mortal blow – how about some reserve strength?), they caved in from the word go, playing for a goalless draw, and hoping to win Europe's most prestigious trophy on penalty kicks! Such a cowardly stance deserved a good hiding, but Liverpool were not at their best either, and a solitary Dalglish goal didn't truly reflect the yawning gap between the two sides.

At the other end, after a mix-up, De Cubber nearly equalized, but for Thompson's mighty leap as he cleared the ball off the line. Jensen made some brave saves in the Belgian goal, but this was a dismal game quite unworthy of the occasion. Bob Paisley was probably right when he said: 'The fact that the final was played at Wembley frightened the Belgians. On a "neutral" ground, we would most likely have had a better game. But it takes "two to tango", so don't blame us for the defensive tactics of Bruges.' The Belgians, led by Ernst Happel, were also unwilling to participate in a 'dance' at Turin in the previous round, where they narrowly lost to Juventus, but at home, Bastyns and Vandereycken gave them victory on a 2-1 aggregate. Although not appreciated by the British Press, I thought that the Anderlecht v Austria/WAC Cup Winners Cup Final was an excellent match. The Belgians from Brussels were the far better team, but unlike Liverpool at Wembley, they capitalized on their superiority not by having sterile territorial advantage, but by playing carefree flowing football – and scoring four goals! Rob Rensenbrink, in his third consecutive final in this competition, was quite brilliant. Gilbert Van Binst got one of the best goals I have ever seen – and the game was a delightful throw-back to an era when performance mattered as much as results. Austria's progress to the final was a great surprise, especially their semi-final win over Dynamo Moscow. Manchester United's unfortunate start against St Etienne, (a sorry episode fully chronicled in our Diary section), ended in a triumph at Plymouth of all places, and the Sexton-team were on course for a good run. But an unexpectedly heavy defeat at Porto put paid to their hopes. Rangers were beaten by Twente Enschede in round two, similarly, Celtic were ko'd by the Austrians, Innsbruck, at the same stage in the European Cup. The UEFA Cup, always colourful and interesting, saw the emergence of the underdogs. Studying the 64-strong field in August, who would have thought that Grasshoppers and Bastia would contest one of the semi-finals? But class told at the end, and PSV Eindhoven became the third Dutch club to win a major European trophy. English clubs have been going through a lean time recently in this competition, which for seven years was almost their private property. Aston Villa had the longest run, only to be beaten by the Johan Cruyff-inspired Barcelona. So, reliable, functional, 4-4-2 devotees, Liverpool; classical, artistic Anderlecht; and the 'total' footballers of PSV Eindhoven, put their names on the coveted trophies. Infinite variety indeed! Variety of style, philosophy, priorities, attitudes. That's how it should be, that's what makes football the one and only 'glory game'!

Decisions of the International Board

(1) Referees in International Matches shall wear a blazer or blouse the colour of which is distinct from the colours worn by the contesting teams.

(2) Referees for International Matches will be selected from a neutral country unless the countries concerned agree to appoint their own officials.

(3) The Referee must be chosen from the official list of International Referees. This need not apply to Amateur and Youth International Matches.

(4) The Referee shall report to the appropriate authority misconduct or any misdemeanour on the part of spectators, officials, players, named substitutes or other persons which take place either on the field of play or in its vicinity at any time prior to, during, or after the match in question so that appropriate action can be taken by the Authority concerned.

(5) Linesmen are assistants of the Referee. In no case shall the Referee consider the intervention of a Linesman if he himself has seen the incident and from his position on the field, is better able to judge. With this reserve, and the Linesman neutral, the Referee can consider the intervention and if the information of the Linesman applies to that phase of the game immediately before the scoring of a goal, the Referee may act thereon and cancel the goal.

(6) The Referee, however, can only reverse his first decision so long as the game has not been restarted.

(7) If the Referee has decided to apply the advantage clause and to let the game proceed, he cannot revoke his decision if the presumed advantage has not been realised, even though he has not, by any gesture, indicated his decision. This does not exempt the offending player from being dealt with by the Referee.

(8) The Laws of the Game are intended to provide that games should be played with as little interference as possible, and in this view it is the duty of Referees to penalise only deliberate breaches of the Law. Constant whistling for trifling and doubtful breaches produces bad feeling and loss of temper on the part of the players and spoils the pleasure of spectators.

(9) By para. (d) of Law V the Referee is empowered to terminate a match in the event of grave disorder, but he has no power or right to decide, in such event, that either team is disqualified and thereby the loser of the match. He must send a detailed report to the proper authority who alone has power to deal further with this matter.

(10) If a player commits two infringements of a different nature at the same time, the Referee shall punish the more serious offence.

(11) It is the duty of the Referee to act upon the information of neutral Linesmen with regard to incidents that do not come under the personal notice of the Referee.

(12) The Referee shall not allow any person to enter the field until play has stopped, and only then, if he has given him a signal to do so, nor shall he allow coaching from the boundary lines.

LAW VI.—LINESMEN

Two Linesmen shall be appointed, whose duty (subject to the decision of the Referee) shall be to indicate when the ball is out of play and which side is entitled to the corner-kick, goal-kick or throw-in. They shall also assist the Referee to control the game in accordance with the Laws. In the event of undue interference or improper conduct by a Linesman, the Referee shall dispense with his services and arrange for a substitute to be appointed. (The matter shall be reported by the Referee to the competent authority.) The Linesmen should be equipped with flags by the Club on whose ground the match is played.

Decisions of the International Board

(1) Linesmen, where neutral, shall draw the Referee's attention to any breach of the Laws of the Game of which they becom aware if they consider that the Referee ma not have seen it, but the Referee sha always be the judge of the decision to b taken.

(2) National Associations are advised t appoint official Referees of neutral nationa ity to act as Linesmen in Internationa Matches.

(3) In International Matches Linesmen flags shall be of a vivid colour, bright rec and yellows. Such flags are recommende for use in all other matches.

When the game has been stopped by referee.

e ball is in play at all other times from art of the match to the finish including:

(a) If it rebounds from a goal-post, cross-bar or corner-flag post into the field of play.

(b) If it rebounds off either the Referee or Linesmen when they are in the field of play.

(c) In the event of a supposed infringement of the Laws, until a decision is given.

Decisions of the International Board

(1) The lines belong to the areas of which they are the boundaries. In consequence, the touch-lines and the goal-lines belong to the field of play.

LAW X.—METHOD OF SCORING

Except as otherwise provided by these Laws, a goal is scored when the whole of the ball has passed over the goal-line, between the goal-posts and under the cross-bar, provided it has not been thrown, carried or intentionally propelled by hand or arm, by a player of the attacking side, except in the case of a goalkeeper, who is within his own penalty-area.

The team scoring the greater number of goals during a game shall be the winner; if no goals, or an equal number of goals are scored, the game shall be termed a "draw".

Decisions of the International Board

(1) Law X defines the only method according to which a match is won or drawn; no variation whatsoever can be authorised.

(2) A goal cannot in any case be allowed if the ball has been prevented by some outside agent from passing over the goal-line. If this happens in the normal course of play, other than at the taking of a penalty-kick: the game must be stopped and restarted by the Referee dropping the ball at the place where the ball came into contact with the interference.

(3) If, when the ball is going into goal, a spectator enters the field before it passes wholly over the goal-line, and tries to prevent a score, a goal shall be allowed if the ball goes into goal unless the spectator has made contact with the ball or has interfered with play, in which case the Referee shall stop the game and restart it by dropping the ball at the place where the contact or interference occurred.

A player in an off-side position shall not be penalised unless, in the opinion of the Referee, he is interfering with the play or with an opponent, or is seeking to gain an advantage by being in an off-side position.

Decisions of the International Board

(1) Off-side shall not be judged at the moment the player in question receives the ball, but at the moment when the ball is passed to him by one of his own side. A player who is not in an off-side position when one of his colleagues passes the ball to him or takes a free-kick, does not therefore become off-side if he goes forward during the flight of the ball.

A player shall be sent off the field of play, if:

(n) in the opinion of the Referee he is guilty of violent conduct or serious foul play;

By the time they're finished, will

How much punishment can a grass field take before it becomes unplayable?

How many fixtures will have been abandoned before it's back to normal?

Or, to put it more tangibly, have you any idea how many hours playing time per year the average grass pitch will give?

To take the tangible one first, the total is 110–120 hours.

This advertisement is about an alternative capable of at least 3000 without a trace of deterioration.

Its name is AstroTurf.®

Carry on playing.

AstroTurf, as you may know from its brilliant success at the Montreal Olympics, consists of nylon 'grass' adhered to shock-absorbent foam to soften falls, and, usually, laid at one degree slope from the centre of the pitch for drainage.

It has every characteristic of grass except nutritional value, and has phenomenal, proven life expectancy.

It's almost entirely unaffected, of course, by heat or drought. Snow and ice you simply brush away.

Rain actually keeps it clean. Maintenance is limited to hosing down and the occasional once-over with a vacuum cleaner.

And at Islington, probably the best known British AstroTurf installation, an average of 2500–3000 playing hours per year amounts to the equivalent of 22 years' use on conventional grass pitches, in just one.

Possibly of even greater interest, any player familiar with it will tell the same be true of your pitch?

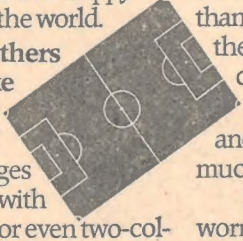
you not only that he performs better on AstroTurf than on grass, but that its far superior consistency means the fairest possible result.

And what else is sport but this?

Incidentally, AstroTurf is endorsed by FIH, and the IOC, not to mention over 200 happy clients throughout the world.

How to have others competing to make money for you.



Not the least of AstroTurf's advantages is that by treating it with special one-match (or even two-colour) paint, it can be transformed daily from hockey pitch to soccer or almost any other grass game surface.

The renting possibilities of this fact alone could mean a club well into the black on its investment in five years.

Which brings us to the crunch.

Financial aid.

In training pitch size AstroTurf need be no particular problem financially, as Ipswich Town FC would endorse.

But where a full-size installation is concerned, while more than justifiable on the grounds of the returns it will bring, the outlay can be considerable.

It is a familiar problem, however, and our whole operation is very much geared to helping overcome it.

So don't, please, let financial worry deter you from taking the possibility a stage further.
